

Mujtaba Wani
mujtaba.wani@yale.edu

Education

Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut

Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and Humanities; Expected Graduation: May 2017

Langley High School, McLean, Virginia

Diploma: 2013

Experience

Yale Law School, Research Assistant: September 2013—now

Researched legal history for Noah Messing. Utilized LexisNexis Academic and HeinOnline to study the Presidential pardon power. Wrote memos and searched for relevant precedents and arguments. Investigated trends regarding law firms' recent partner classes. Edited Messing's new book on legal writing, The Art of Advocacy.

United States Senate, Page and Class President: January 2012—June 2012

Nominated by Senator Mark Warner. Prepared the Senate chamber for sessions and assisted Senators. Attended the accelerated United States Senate Page School in the morning and worked during the day. Received First Honors at the Senate Page School.

Yale Office of Development, Prospect Student Research Assistant: October 2014—now

Collected information regarding prospective donors to the institution. Used biographical, business, and news databases to learn about individuals and companies.

Yale Department of Political Science, Research Assistant: January 2014—May 2014

Analyzed theoretical literature on nuclear-weapons proliferation for Professors Alexandre Debs and Nuno Monteiro. Read evidence on weapons programs, summarized documents, and created timelines of events and bibliographies. Specialized in Taiwan and China.

Virginia Victory 2014, Tracking Intern: June 2014

Tracked opposition candidates in Virginia's Senate election. Travelled to political conventions and events. Transcribed and bulleted remarks, as well as analyzed strength of claims using databases such as Lexis and EBSCO. Reviewed FEC filings as well as lawsuits. Helped develop a statewide network of volunteers to track events.

ADVOCATESincDC, Intern: July 2013

Worked as a handler for veterans lobbying congressmen; navigated Capitol Hill and made logistical plans. Aided veterans during their meetings with congressional staffers.

Mercy Corps, Intern: July 2011

Conducted field research on youth entrepreneurship in the unstable Kashmir Valley. Made spreadsheets and graphics on Microsoft Excel. Helped produce promotional videos and staffed a conference for young businesspeople.